

GEN X VS GEN Y =

Exploring the Differences Between the Generations

Generations at War?

Create peace & productivity through understanding generational differences

A generation is a product of the defining moments of their lives. In today's workplace we have Traditionalists or War Babies, Baby Boomers, Generation Xers, and Nexters or Generation Y all coexisting together. We also have these generations cohabitating in multifamily communities in apartments and condominiums. You may not agree with the differences but understanding them is key to better communication, easing tension, improving management styles and increasing productivity.

This class aims to identify communication styles, values, and perspectives to foster understanding and mutual respect in relating between generations with their separate goals, attitudes, and ambitions. Sign up for this class and learn how to relate in positive ways that create peace rather than war.
